SEPTEMBER 2018

Monthly News of Grace Unbounded at Knollwood Baptist Church

Starting a New Year at KBC

Even for those who aren't in school anymore, or don't have a child in school, fall feels like a "new year." The school buses are moving again, the caution lights are blinking, and much of the world around us is marching to the beat of the fall drummer: "School!"

At Knollwood as well, fall is the time when we regroup after summer vacations, gather with old and new friends, and re-establish the rhythms of worship and community.

As you plan your fall calendar, whether as a Knollwood veteran or as a newbie, try to make Sunday mornings and Wednesday night "prime time" for you and your family. The schedule that follows gives a quick overview of activities, but please reach out to Knollwood friends or staff members with specific questions you may have. Contact info for the latter is on the masthead of this newsletter (see page 12).

The children received backpack tags and blessing for the new school year as part of Welcome Back Sunday.

Lessons From AA

By BOB SETZER JR.

Recently, I was talking with a friend who is coming up on eight years of sobriety by working the AA (Alcoholics Anonymous) program. He confessed some apprehension about approaching that milestone because the last time he passed eight years sobriety, he fell off the wagon.

“I was actually sober nine years,” he told me, “and then one day, I was at home and decided I wanted a beer. So I went to the store and bought a six pack. Three months later I woke up in a crack house and asked, ‘How did I get here?’”

This is not an uncommon story for those who struggle with alcoholism. Still, I wanted to know more, so I asked, “How does that happen? How do you stay sober for nine years and then pick up a beer?”

Here’s his answer. “I stopped doing the things I needed to do to stay sober. I stopped attending meetings. And I started hanging out with the wrong people. I waved at my old AA friends, when I saw them, but I had a new group of friends. In their company, it was almost impossible not to drink again.”

“So what did you do when you woke up in that crack house and discovered this is not who, or where, you wanted to be?”

Face wincing with pain, my friend said, “I called some of my old AA friends. And they came to get me. One from Atlanta, one from New York, many more from right here in the area. They got me into rehab and after that, back into meetings. Since then, I’ve been sober nearly eight years.”

As a pastor, hoping to evoke insight and growth, I asked my fellow pilgrim what he was doing differently these days.

“I go to meetings at least three time a week,” he answered. “And I will for the rest of my life.” (Story shared with permission.)

I’m grateful to be part of a congregation that hosts thriving AA meetings for our community. Look at the crowd descending on the Noffsinger youth building after Wednesday night church, and you’ll see what I mean. And if you or someone you love needs to connect with AA or Al-Anon (for the families of alcoholics), call Phil at 336-409-7740 (Shared with permission).

In every church I’ve served, some of my best friends and most savvy, committed members, have been members of AA. I love their honesty, humility, resilience, and courage. As our AA friends say it, “Religion is for people afraid of going to hell; Spirituality is for those who’ve been there.”

Whether one is a member of AA or not, we all need those rhythms of faith (trusting in our Higher Power) and community (gathering with those who hold us precious and hold us accountable) that keep us sane, healthy, and whole.

At her best, the church offers such rhythms of faith and community in her worship, learning, small groups, and service opportunities. And while I’m coming up on far more than eight years of sharing this journey with Jesus and those who love him, I know I would soon lose my way if I quit going to “meetings” where I often bump into Jesus in the company of his friends.

Blessings,

Bob

“Religion is for people afraid of going to hell; Spirituality is for those who’ve been there.”

Music Ministry Transition/Search Committee Report

By JANET RAY

September marks the end of the transition phase of the Music Ministry Transition/Search Committee's work. In September the committee will complete work on a Leadership Profile that describes the church's music ministry priorities and the important skills and characteristics of our next minister of music. This profile will be shared with the diaconate at their September meeting and the membership by the end of the month. The Leadership Profile will serve as the committee's guide when we begin to review potential candidates for Music Ministry this fall.

Please continue to pray for us and support our work.

Interim Music Status Report

By BETH SANDERS

Chair, Personnel Committee

Our KBC music program will not miss a beat this fall! Dr. Bryon Grohman, our Interim Choral Director, led the Youth Choir rehearsal for the first time Aug. 26 after their summer break, and he rehearsed with the Chancel Choir on Aug. 29. Bryon's first Sunday with the KBC congregation will be Sunday, Sept. 9.

Lauren Winkelman, Music Ministry Associate and Organist, will continue this fall with music and worship planning and coordinating our handbell program and children's choirs. Lauren will continue to direct the Children's Bells, High School Bells, Chancel Bells, and the first-second grade choir.

Additional updates during our interim period include:

- Patricia Ball will continue to lead our brass ensemble
- David Winkelman and Susan Edge will continue to lead children's chapel Sunday mornings
- Marty Edwards and Carol Cramer will continue to lead the preschool music Sunday mornings

Our middle school bells, led by David Winkelman; our preschool choir, led by Rebekah Edwards; and our third—fifth grade choir, led by Charlotte Brown, will continue the excellent work they do on Wednesday evenings.

Thanks to these individuals who bring so much talent and dedication to the music ministry of KBC.

Volunteer Opportunities

By BETH FIELDS

With the start of a new school year, there is an abundance of opportunities for KBC folks to volunteer.

Bolton Elementary School - We are entering our sixth year of partnership with Bolton. Volunteers are needed in the following areas: one-on-one tutoring with a student guided reading leader with a small group of students (new this year,) special event assistance, and media center assistance.

If you have an interest in working with Bolton Elementary, begin the process by visiting: wsfscvolunteers.com to obtain volunteer clearance and contact Beth Fields. (fieldsbfields@aol.com)

The Bolton School Backpack Program has morphed into a Bolton School Food Pantry Partnership among Knollwood, Trinity Presbyterian, and Wesley Memorial Methodist churches. Currently, over 30 families are visiting the pantry for assistance with food. The pantry, housed at Wesley Memorial, is open on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month. It is expected that pantry participants will increase as it is opened to all Bolton families with the start of school. If you would like to be involved with this program, contact Spence O'Neill. (lsbrooks@hotmail.com)

Kids Café, a tutoring program housed at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, is yet another way to be involved in a local program. Students (K-12) arrive at St. Paul's at 4:30 for a nutritious meal. Volunteers then tackle school work with the students from 5-6 pm. Kids Café is open Tuesday-Thursday evenings. Knollwoodians comprise most of the volunteers on Tuesdays and there is always a need for more. Contact Don VonCannon (csvon-cannon@gmail.com) for more information.

ACAP Winston-Salem

(Adult Children of Aging Parents)

Caregiving for an aging adult can be a rewarding and challenging journey. Especially as situations and roles change, adult-children of aging parents often provide essential medical, emotional, and financial support.

ACAP Winston-Salem is the new chapter of ACAPcommunity (Adult Children of Aging Parents), which is a nonprofit organization with the mission of providing information, resources, support and community for adult children as they care for their aging parents and for themselves.

ACAP Winston-Salem will begin its monthly programming on Tuesday, Sept. 18, in the Fellowship Hall. Programs will be held on the third Tuesday of each month from 5:30-7:00 PM. Each month, speakers will provide a presentation and answer questions regarding a variety of topics related to adult-child caregiving. Program sponsors (community resources) will also be available to provide information and answer questions.

With a panel of representatives from public and private organizations, the first program will address best ways of Choosing Community Resources.

To learn more about ACAP, contact Lindley Curtis at Lindley.Curtis@family-housews.org or 404-401-0071. To register for this no-cost program, please email acapwinstonsalem@gmail.com or leave a message with your contact information at (336) 652-0474.

Racial Equity Training At Knollwood

Saturday, Sept. 29

9 AM-1 PM

Knollwood Baptist Church Fellowship Hall

The Racial Equity Task Force and the Deacon Executive Council are excited to host Tami Logan Forte and Milly Morrow of Inside and Out Consulting to lead our congregation in a four-hour training on race and religion as it relates to our church and our members.

Tami and Milly are experienced trainers and ordained ministers. They are familiar with the church context and have experience with mostly or all-white groups. For a variety of reasons, we do see this training as an internal exercise for Knollwood, and not a community event open to the public. Members and regular attendees of Knollwood are invited to attend.

Through this training, we hope to:

- Create a safe yet brave space in our church for challenging conversations about race in our culture, seeing this as a first step of a larger, sustained process;
- Invite participants to more deeply understand the dynamics of discrimination, the continuing effects of racism, the advantages that accompany being white, and the complex goal of racial justice and equity;
- Challenge the congregation to take steps towards racial equity both at church and in our community;
- Be relevant to a range of people who may be at different places in their awareness of and commitment to the issue of racial justice.

The facilitators will start by helping us develop a shared language around discrimination, an analysis of power, privilege, and structural racism.

As we learn about why and how we should do the hard work of racial justice as Christians, we invite you to embrace the necessary discomfort of this process. We have invited our trainers to disrupt us in the same way that Jesus often does: with bold truth, spoken in love, and extended with grace.

Join us as we attempt to know and do better in addressing root causes of racism, starting with ourselves and our community of faith.

Child care (if requested) and lunch will be provided
Space is limited.

Cancer Services would like to thank Knollwood for letting us have our Ladies Night Fun, Fellowship and Art in the Wellness and Community Center recently. Annie Kendall was so gracious to coordinate and organize the event for us. She is a true blessing. We are so grateful for her willingness to help and bless others. From Listening to Confessing: Practicing Faith

We begin a series on “Listening as a Spiritual Practice” with our first presenter-- Ryan Newson, an engaging young teacher and writer on Christian ethics and Baptist identity. Dr. Newson is Assistant Professor of Theology and Ethics at Campbell University and the author of two recent books, Radical Friendship: The Politics of Communal Discernment and Inhabiting the World: Identity, Politics and Theology in Radical Baptist Theology. Some at Knollwood know him from his years as a student at the Wake Forest University School of Divinity. Come join the conversation about listening deeply and well.

September 12, 19 and 26

Option 1: *Listening as a Spiritual Practice

Each week, a new speaker or leader will guide consideration of listening and its relation to discernment, to understanding difference, and to resisting the adversarial noise of our time. We’ll conclude the series by welcoming Dr. Laura Parajon on Listening and Community Development: AMOS Health & Hope. In the fellowship hall. All are welcome.

Option 2: *Scrapbooking and Journaling Your Faith

Learn how to use your pictures and memorabilia to record your family, your life experiences, and your faith for the future. Tools will be available. Some supplies will be available at no cost, others at reduced prices, and you may find others at local stores. Three evenings will get you started recording the past and imagining the future. Led by Diane West, in the Pilgrimage Classroom, Bldg. A. To sign up, email frontdesk@knollwood.org or phone 336-725-1343.

Option 3: *Marriage enrichment

This three-week series offers an introduction to marriage education (not marriage counseling) for couples who want to grow in their relationship, and a way to explore whether they’d like to join a new group that may form after the series. Co-leaders Chuck and Reneé Hinson are trained through the Better Marriages organization and have offered marriage enrichment groups at Knollwood for many years. Reneé also holds a PhD in clinical psychology. To make a commitment to the three-week opportunity, please email frontdesk@knollwood.org or phone 336-725-1343. ## Faith in the City: Deepening the Conversation

A New Series of Speakers and Conversations, first Tuesday of the month, with a brown bag lunch

Three groups at Knollwood are collaborating on a new once-a-month speakers' series, starting Oct. 2 during the lunch hour. The series will focus on issues in our own community, starting with inequities in education.

Our first speaker will be Dr. Danielle Parker Moore of Wake Forest University, whose research interests include black mothers and their experiences with youth mentoring programs, and first-generation and under-represented students' access to college and graduate school. Her research also focuses on the ways in which parents utilize partnerships to leverage outcomes for youth of color.

Dr. Parker Moore is Assistant Professor of Multicultural Education, Critical Pedagogy and Social Foundations in the Department of Education.

We'll gather over brown bag lunch from 12-1 in the Community Room of the Wellness and Community Center. The series is open to anyone in our community and is being planned by the leaders of Faith Formation and Education, All God's Children, and the Missional Support Team.

Children AND Families

By CHRISSEY HARDY

Children's Ministry Associate

Recently, I sat in worship and marveled at the ways our children and their families led us. Austin and Jilly Fowler walked down the aisles together to serve as acolytes; it was Jilly's first time, but you'd never know since she was led and guided by her big sister. Lincoln and Emma Gibson Heinsohn stood in front of a congregation full of people and lifted their voices loudly in praise, joined by their parents. Gabriel Oakley read our Gospel lesson with a voice as confident and expressive as any adult who reads scripture.

Children dropped their hands into the offering plate, leaving behind some money from their parents' wallets or their own piggy banks. Others snuggled up beside their parents and busied their hands with colored pencils or toys from our worship bags while their ears were open to the words and music filling the space. Some of our children are learning to usher beside their parents, or are helping to greet on mornings before Sunday School.

Our children are not isolated in a room far away, being kept occupied with busy work while adults do the "real" worship. Children and their families are involved in nearly every aspect of worship at Knollwood, week after week. It is a beautiful picture that I hope we will continue to foster, both during worship and throughout the rest of our weekly spiritual lives.

This year there will be opportunities for our families to join together to do the work of God in a number of different ways. We have a few Serving Saturdays planned for children and their families to go into our community and serve God's people together. We have a family retreat planned for late October where we will slip away for a night and worship, learn and play together with other families. We will have social events for our children and their families to connect with each other. And there are our regular weekly offerings: Sunday School, Bible studies, choirs, and Wednesday night programming - both intergenerational and not.

It is my hope that all of these activities will look a lot like worship did on Sunday. Children with their families, authentically engaged in doing God's work as we learn and grow together. All these family units create a bigger church family that I'm really thankful to be a part of.

Coming this Fall to the Wellness and Community Center

By JOSH GODWIN

Minister of Youth and Recreation

What a fantastic summer it has been for the recreation ministry at KBC. The WCC has been alive every day with folks from Knollwood and the larger community coming to enjoy the facility.

Intense pickleball matches, successful walking track laps, and inviting yoga classes made it a blessedly busy summer around here. We are so thankful for all the folks who are bringing life to this incredible space! With the rhythm of a new school year comes changes in schedule. Some of the activities scheduled during the day, like Tuesday/Thursday Community play, will be dropped and others, like teen basketball, moved to evening hours. A full schedule for fall hours will be accessible on our church website and at the WCC.

Open pickleball will remain during its current times, every Tuesday and Thursday of the week. We have a vibrant community of players, both experienced and learning, who would love some new faces! Also, our yoga offerings on Tuesdays and Thursdays will remain in their current time slots, accompanied by the free gentle yoga classes for all ages led by Gayle Anderson. If you're interested in yoga but have never attended a class before, Jennie Schwartz, teacher of the Tuesday/Thursday evening classes, is offering free primer sessions the first two Thursday evenings in September. We look forward to seeing you soon in the WCC!

Sunday Night Youth Group

Adventures, Old and New

By JOSH GODWIN

This time of year is a wonderful mix of endings and beginnings. Fall is on the horizon to usher in the end of summer. The languishing of young people at home during the summer months gives way to the hectic movements of the school year. There is much going on and much to be done.

In the midst of all these transitions, KBC.ym is going through our own changing of gears. This summer was filled to the brim with adventures had and memories made both near to and far from home. Now, we turn our attention toward more relaxed evenings at SNYG.

Every Sunday night, we'll gather in the Noffsinger Youth Building to share meals together, pray together, and grow closer to one another and God. At SNYG we teach one another in conversations, pray for and with each other, and celebrate the family formed in our community. SNYG is the tentpole of our ministry together, and we are excited to have a fantastic core of folks involved. At our first SNYG this fall we had 31 young people made up of returnees and some new faces. We are excited to welcome our new and incoming folks into our KBC.ym family.

But even though we turn most of our attention to the rhythms of the school year, the adventures are not over. Labor Day weekend we're hitting the sand for Beach Retreat 2018. We're taking an awesomely humongous crowd to Holden Beach for a weekend together. Pray that this weekend will be a positive experience for all in our group, especially new and incoming friends. We could not do anything without the support of this congregation, and we are so thankful for you.

Here's to 2018-19 with KBC.ym.
